

Primary Care Workforce Development Asset Map

Nevada Health Care Workforce and Pipeline Development Workgroup

Introduction

This Primary Care Workforce Development Asset Map documents primary care workforce development initiatives, programs, and resources throughout Nevada. It reflects the results of a 2022 statewide survey to identify existing workforce development efforts related to public health, behavioral health, and primary care, as well as additional research.

Assets are organized by stage of the workforce pipeline as shown in the table below: K-12, vocational training/higher education, and current workforce, and categorized by the type of service or program. For example, initiatives targeting young people in kindergarten through high school are included in the K-12 section, under categories related to career outreach and exploration, and academic success/college and career readiness.

K-12	Vocational Training and Higher Education	Current Workforce
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Career Outreach and Exploration • Academic Success, College and Career Readiness 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Career Exploration and Readiness • Associate, Bachelor, and Graduate Degrees • Financial Assistance • Professional Development, Internship, and Apprenticeship Opportunities 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Advocacy and Policy • Traditional Workforce Development Services • Loan Repayment Programs • Training and Continuing Education

The Map provides an overview of each asset’s services or programs, as well as a link to the appropriate website for additional information. This Asset Map is intended to be a living document and will be revised to include new workforce development resources and reflect changes in existing resources. If you have suggestions, additions, or updates, please contact Megan Comlossy at mcomlossy@unr.edu.

Nevada Health Care Workforce and Pipeline Development Workgroup

The Nevada Health Care Workforce and Pipeline Development Workgroup aims to improve, grow, and diversify Nevada’s public health, behavioral health, and primary care workforces and workforce pipelines to ensure the state has a workforce capable of meeting current and future health care needs.

It brings together stakeholders representing public health, behavioral health, primary care, traditional workforce development, K-12 and higher education, minority health and equity, and community-based organizations throughout the state to:

1. Enhance education and awareness of workforce development initiatives in Nevada, connect non-traditional partners, identify opportunities for cross-sector collaboration, and maximize resources statewide;
2. Identify and map workforce pipeline development initiatives in K-12 education, higher education, and the current workforce; and
3. Create and implement workforce pipeline development plans for public health, behavioral health, and primary care.

Support for the Nevada Health Care Workforce and Pipeline Development Workgroup is provided by High Sierra AHEC and the Center for Public Health Excellence within the School of Public Health at the University of Nevada Reno (UNR) through funding from the Division of Public and Behavioral Health of Nevada's Department of Health and Human Services.

High Sierra Area Health Education Center (AHEC) is a 501c3 public health non-profit organization, affiliated with the University of Nevada, Reno School of Medicine, dedicated to recruiting, developing, and strengthening the future healthcare workforce of Nevada. It is committed to providing equitable and comprehensive opportunities; engaging in outreach that exposes young people from groups underrepresented in the healthcare workforce to role models and mentors; further inspiring their pursuit and tangibility of a healthcare career. High Sierra AHEC's nationally recognized programs target first-generation, low-income, and rural students in a six-county area, including Carson, Churchill, Douglas, Lyon, Storey, and Washoe Counties.

The Center for Public Health Excellence, UNR School of Public Health works to improve the health of all Nevadans by leading efforts to grow and diversify the public health workforce; facilitating and formalizing partnerships between public health agencies and institutions of higher education; working with public health authorities to improve quality and performance; and raising awareness among policymakers about the importance of public health and key policy challenges.
